SCI-TECHnetBASE is an excellent resource for —

- All university libraries, both graduate and undergraduate
- Research facilities needing to keep pace with the latest results and procedures
- High school enrichment programs looking to serve the needs of gifted students, as well as find an affordable way to access the quality introductory chapters found in many sophisticated volumes
- Public libraries seeking an affordable way to turn their facilities into advanced state-of-the-art resource centers
- Law offices, regulatory branches and others concerned with patent research and current standards across an extensive number of fields
- Epidemiologists, clinicians, toxicologists, and others in hospitals and medical offices seeking a quick way to search for both supportive case studies and obscure data

Sci-TechnetBASE is a living encyclopedia that will continue to expand adding the research of world-renowned academics and professionals as quickly as that research becomes available. It offers a new dimension in multi-disciplinary research that keeps up with the latest trends across the sciences as boundaries blur in the pursuit of knowledge.
